

36. (currently amended) The power tool according to claim 16, wherein by means of the retaining element the grip part is connected to the mounting part in captive fashion.